It's a Wonderful Life

December 21st, 2018; 1:30
Saint Paul University Amphitheatre

A man becomes despondent over his inability to escape life in a small town and frustrations with his business. He contemplates suicide. He thinks that the world would be better off without him. Suddenly he is offered a chance to see something even more powerful than his despair: what the world would have been like had he never existed at all. Somehow this dark, counterfactual and existential premise is simultaneously the basis of a very sentimental Christmas movie.
