

2019 EU-Canada Youth Journalist Fellowship (Information disponible aussi en Français)

The EU-Canada Young Journalist Fellowship aims to recognize outstanding journalistic talent among young Canadians. Since 2001, three candidates have been selected every year to participate in a week-long study tour to experience the EU institutions, the Canadian Mission to the EU, and media outlets in Brussels. Winners will also attend the daily European Commission press briefing. All expenses are paid for by the European Union Delegation to Canada. Winners will also benefit from a one-year CAJ membership or one-year CAJ membership renewal. Prior to the trip, winners will be invited to an awards ceremony co-hosted by the Honourable George J. Furey, Speaker of the Senate of Canada, H.E. Peteris Ustubs, Ambassador of the European Union to Canada, and the CAJ on Parliament Hill in Ottawa.

The EU-Canada Young Journalist Fellowship seeks to foster links between Europeans and Canadians and to raise awareness of the European Union among a new generation of Canadian students and journalists.

Winners are required to submit a sample of their work and to chronicle their study tour experience online or in print during the study tour or upon their return from Europe (i.e. published articles, blogging, social media platforms).

Deadline: May 6th, 2019;

Eligibility Criteria:

- Actively enrolled in a Canadian university/ post-secondary institution or active in the field of journalism;
- Between the ages of 18-30;
- Canadian citizens or permanent residents;

Application Process:

- Applicants are invited to submit a recent sample of their work in any format, English or French, about the European Union or European Union-Canada relations:
  - If print: news stories or opinion pieces of maximum 1,000 words, unpublished or published within the six previous months from the application date;
  - If audio-visual: news reports of up to 90 seconds duration or mini-documentaries of anywhere between 4 and 5 minutes;
